I. INTRODUCTION

Currently, the development of trade continues to increase, especially in the city of Mataram, as evidenced by the increasing number of traders who have sprung up. Based on data from the Central Statistics Agency in 2018, the number of trading companies by sub-district in Mataram City in 2014 was 231 companies and in 2015-2016 there were 598 companies. The number of trading companies continues to increase from year to year. This affects the competition between traders, especially in fighting over consumers. Along with the development of the retail business era or commonly called retail traders, its existence is increasingly felt in people's daily lives. Various kinds of retail shopping centres began to appear in various shapes and sizes—some examples of forms of retail shopping centres such as mini markets, supermarkets and hypermarkets. The competitive reality of competition forces companies to work as hard as possible to retain and attract consumers from other shopping centres. Companies increasingly realize how central the role of the customer is in their business. From this awareness, companies will make customers the focus of their efforts. Therefore, a precise strategy is needed to fight over consumers (Cooper, 1999).

Along with the development of retail businesses in Indonesia, places to shop are currently very popular with the public. This retail business arises as a result of people's desire to shop for daily necessities that are comfortable, delicious, and practical. The existence of very large consumer interest in the retail business has made many entrepreneurs compete to innovate services in the retail business. One of the places where retail business is located in Hypermart, which provides complete goods, especially daily necessities with good, comfortable, and fast service (Alifah et al, 2014).

Consumer needs in meeting their daily needs are getting bigger. Supermarkets are not enough. It is necessary to establish a hypermarket, a shopping concept with a much more complete collection of goods. Matahari views the marketplace can be upgraded from a supermarket to a hypermarket. Innovations were also offered by changing the marketplace in WTC Serpong to Hypermart, Matahari's first hypermart, operated on April 22, 2004. Now Hypermart has the challenge to realize its vision of becoming the hypermarket market leader in 2014 (Alifah et al, 2014).

Hypermart's journey to pioneering its steps in Indonesia cannot be said to be short. Starting operations in 2004, Hypermart, which at that time was present as the youngest retailer, caught up to show to the public, this is the original Indonesian retailer born in the Motherland and able to compete with foreign retailers (Alifah et al, 2014).

The increasingly competitive business competition in Mataram that occurs in getting consumers' and consumers' behaviour in terms of purchasing decisions that are only lifestyle-oriented requires all companies to have accurate strategies in attracting consumers (Engel, 1995).

Trading business development provides benefits to the life of the community around the trading location. The benefits obtained include available job opportunities and increased welfare. The existence of a trading business will also open horizons, increase the passion and entrepreneurial nature of the community in the business in the trade and retail sector as a new alternative in building the economic strength of the community and the region, as well as provide new views as well as influence on the culture and habits of the majority of the people who have so far had a large economy. relies on the trade and retail sector (Marine, 2009).

II. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

This research is descriptive research with a survey method. According to Suseno (2013), descriptive research is research that describes purely the results of the observed object. Furthermore, the data obtained are grouped against certain classifications and then conclusions are drawn.

The types and sources of data used in this research method are to use qualitative methods. The data used in this research is using primary data and secondary data. In primary data, information is obtained directly from company leaders and managers through interviews and filling out questionnaires to obtain information needed for research. While the secondary data comes from information report data and company documents that contain the information needed in this study.

Analysis Method

The analytical method used refers to the concept of the strategy formulation framework by David, and Fred. R (2004).

The internal Factor Evaluation Matrix is used to evaluate the company's internal factors, and to formulate these internal evaluation factors in the framework of strengths and weaknesses (strengths and weaknesses). The External Factor Evaluation Matrix enables strategists to evaluate economic, social, cultural, demographic, environmental, political, governmental, legal, technological, and competitive information. The External Factors SWOT Evaluation Matrix enables strategists to evaluate economic, social, cultural, demographic, environmental, political, governmental, legal, technological, and competitive information. External Factor Evaluation Matrix in the framework of threats and opportunities (threat and opportunity). All organizations can be positioned in one of the four strategic quadrants of the Grand Strategy Matrix. The grand strategy matrix is based on two evaluative dimensions namely competitive position and market growth. The right strategy for the organization to consider is shown in order of attractiveness in each quadrant of the matrix, namely David, Fred (2010, p 348-349). The quantitative Strategy Planning Matrix is a tool that enables strategists to evaluate alternative strategies objectively, based on previously identified critical external and internal success factors.

III. RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Company profile

Along with the development of retail businesses in Indonesia, places to shop are currently very popular with the public. This retail business arises as a result of people's desire to shop for daily necessities that are comfortable, delicious, and practical. The existence of very large consumer interest in the retail business has made many entrepreneurs vie to innovate services in the retail business. One of the retail businesses is Hypermart, which provides complete goods, especially daily necessities with good, convenient, and fast service.

Consumer needs in meeting their daily needs are getting bigger. Supermarkets are not enough. It is necessary to establish a hypermarket, a shopping concept with a much more complete collection of goods. Matahari views that Marketplace can be upgraded from a supermarket to a hypermarket. Innovations were also offered by changing the Marketplace at WTC Serpong to Hypermart, Matahari's first hypermarket, operated on April 22, 2004. Now Hypermart has the challenge to realize its vision of becoming the hypermarket market leader in 2016.

Hypermart's journey to pioneering its steps in Indonesia cannot be said to be short. Starting operations in 2004, Hypermart, which at that time was present as the youngest retailer, caught up to show the public: This is a genuine Indonesian retailer born in the Motherland and able to compete with foreign retailers.

Now, at the age of 12, Hypermart wants to show that its desire to become the No.1 Multi Format Food Retail in Indonesia is not just a dream. At a young age, Hypermart became the first hypermarket to successfully open its 100th outlet in Indonesia.

Company History

Hypermart is a retailer and department store that has been operating since 2004. This large hypermarket started with the establishment of a small shop called Mickey Mouse which Hari Darmawan founded in a two-story building covering an area of approximately 150 square meters in PasarBaru, Jakarta in 1958.

In 1972, Matahari was established under the banner of PT. Matahari Putra Prima Tbk has succeeded in becoming a pioneer in the concept of a convenience store (Toshiba) in Indonesia. This success initiated Matahari to expand its wings by opening SinarMatahari in Bogor in 1980.

Matahari's first business expansion was marked by the operation of the Super Bazaar supermarket on July 14, 1991. In 2000, the Super Bazaar changed its name to Matahari Supermarket. In 2002, Matahari separated its core business into an independent business for the betterment of the company by developing new corporate businesses such as Matahari Supermarket. As the first original retail company from Indonesia, PT. Matahari Putra Prima Tbk does not want its vision of creating a comfortable and complete shopping atmosphere to only be a dream. Supported by professionals in their fields who share the same vision and mission, Matahari expanded its business scope to operate a supermarket that was flown under the Super Bazaar flag in 1991. Its first location was at PasarBaru.

The year 2004 marked the beginning of Matahari's innovation which was implemented through the opening of the first Hypermart outlet at WTC Serpong. By carrying out the shopping concept "Muraah Really" wrapped in a comfortable atmosphere, Hypermart has successfully expanded in almost all parts of Indonesia, including Mataram City.
